The current project we’re working on deals with an introduction to the basics of one computer programming language.

What is Computer Programming?

What are five examples of Programming Language?

The first programmable object was invented by Al-Jazari. What was his invention and what did it do?

What is debugging?

What does debugging do? Why is it important?