“Adventures in Alice” is a program that is an introduction to JAVA programming.

What is JAVA?

______________________________________________________________

______________________________________________________________

______________________________________________________________

How does JAVA work?

______________________________________________________________

______________________________________________________________

______________________________________________________________

What is a JAVA Compiler? What does it do?

______________________________________________________________

______________________________________________________________

______________________________________________________________

Open one of your Alice worlds. In the “Edit” menu in Alice, on the “General” tab go to “Display my Program” and choose one of the two java options. This displays your program in actual JAVA. What do you think about how it looks?

______________________________________________________________

______________________________________________________________

______________________________________________________________

Do you think you could write something in that? Why or why not?

______________________________________________________________

______________________________________________________________