CPS 1 Extra Credit: Limericks

1) "How hard could it be to write code?"
   "It gets harder down the road."
   "Uh oh, you are right,
   What on earth is a byte
   Or loops, arrays, and nodes??"

2) Words like isomorphic, java, and [index] make me smile.
   I hope I retain this information forever and if not for a while Computers are not just for fun and games.
   They require much patience, love and brains.

3) I start to sweat as soon as I open up eclipse.
   When I open a new class my heart does flips.
   My mind is constantly boggled by the code.
   I wish that I knew how to put the document into another mode.
   Then I remind myself that I am learning a lot, never would I have thought that I would master Java scripts.

4) Why the computer's gender is feminine:
   - As soon as you get one, a better one shows up;
   - Nobody, other than the Creator, understands its logic;
   - The language they use to communicate among themselves is unintelligible;
   - It's not always possible to understand the messages they give you, or why;
   - After you get one, a lot of your money goes into buying accessories it needs.

5) When do you know that you've been sitting a bit too long in front of your computer?
   - When a fly sits on your screen and you try to kill it with the click of a mouse.

6) Comp sci is fun,
   Comp sci is great,
   Just don't take away my comp sci date.
   Take away my jelly beans,
   Take away my time,
   But don't take away the Comp sci that is mine.

7) We learn Java writing in comp sci,
   Java writing makes me want to die,
   How hard can this stuff be?
   I only wish to see,
   and write loops and methods by and by.
8) There once was a program named Java,
   whose future shined brighter than lava.
   But then along came Perl.
   And giving it a whirl,
   now Java is only a tapa.

9) Once there was a real cool compsci class,
   The instructor was clever, not crass,
   We learned HTML,
   Which turned out to be swell.
   I hope I do better than "pass"!

10) Computer Science is really not all that fun.
   In fact, I can't really wait till I'm done.
   Thanks to Nihshanka, the class is not that terrible.
   In fact, he makes the class somewhat bearable.
   Its hard to be in a class where all I can say is “Damn!”
   While all I can think of is laying by the pool and getting a tan.

11) There once was a girl at Duke.
   The thought of math made her puke.
   But she took comp sci,
   With a really nice guy,
   And now she loves math, WOOHOO!

12) Computer science computer science what an interesting subject,
   If you take this class at Duke, you better have a high budget.
   Science is cool, I love it a ton,
   But science plus computers is incredibly fun!

13) This is a computer science class
   All the students are hoping to pass
   And I just had to cram
   For the midterm exam
   But now, I'm going fishing for bass
